Postdoc of the Month

The Journal of Postdoctoral Research would like to encourage your continued self- and peer-nominations for our Postdoc of the Month award. Winners will be recognized in that month's issue, as well as being invited to submit a "Spotlight" article for publication, and being entered into consideration for "Postdoc of the Year." We've already had two winners from UF and we hope that you are our third! For more information about the award or the journal as a whole, please see the call for nominations at tinyurl.com/postdocaward or email the editor-in-chief, Stephan C. Jahn (a UF postdoc), at editor-in-chief@postdocjournal.com

Postdoctoral Associate Position Available

We are looking for a postdoctoral associate. This post-doctoral associate will design and perform experiments pertaining to two different projects: (1) chemical proteomics-based analysis of enzymes in chicken and (2) study of function of human extracellular vesicles in bacterial infections. Previous experience with protein methods or molecular biology is expected. If this person has any bioinformatics or programming skills, it would be an additional bonus. We anticipate that s(he) will have an active interest in developing research project, for example by proposing novel avenues of the project, alternative approaches, and reading relevant literature. After initial training, s(he) will work independently with minimal supervision, and proactively propose and test novel ideas that are relevant to the project. Moreover, this post-doctoral associate will be also responsible for some aspects of the lab maintenance pertaining to biosafety protocols and student training. Please contact Dr. Mariola Edelmann to apply for this position: medelmann@ufl.edu.

Sign Up! UF Biology at the Beach Student and Postdoc Symposium

The graduate students and post-docs of the Whitney Laboratory for Marine Bioscience would like to invite you to our Fourth Annual Biology at the Beach Research Symposium. OPEN TO ALL SCIENTIFIC DISCIPLINES!! This event will take place all day Saturday, May 7th at the Whitney Laboratory for Marine Bioscience (located in Saint Augustine)!!

Enjoy a Saturday filled with casual research discussion and presentations, friendly competition, tours of the sea turtle hospital, sunshine, sunset kayak eco-tours (optional), the beach, and BBQ!

Students and post-doctoral fellows are invited from many different departments and Florida universities, so anticipate learning from, and explaining your research to a diverse audience united by scientific curiosity and the beach. So far we have attendees from 20 departments and 4 universities registered! We also encourage undergraduates pursuing degrees in the sciences, and/ or involved in research to come explore their post-graduate options! This is a great opportunity for them to get an abstract for their CVs so please let your students know as well!

Breakfast and registration open at 9:30 am and talks begin at 10:00 sharp, allowing time for a commute to the Whitney. If you are interested and would like to join us, please fill out the registration survey by April 29th:
https://ufl.qualtrics.com/SE/?SID=SV\_6zdP6HYX7L1QzBL

Attendance to the symposium is limited, so please don't wait too long to register!

All attendees are given the option to present research in one of three formats, providing the opportunity to practice poster and oral presentation skills (see registration survey for details). There is also the opportunity to compete in an optional vote-based competition for best poster and best talk with prizes! Also, indicate whether you are able to drive/carpool, as we will attempt to arrange carpools to economize transportation.

Registration fees are to be collected at sign-in ($20; please, cash or check only), and will cover three meals, drinks served throughout the day and fun symposium giveaways!

Please register using the link and join us for a fun, casual day at the beach where we can discuss diverse research topics, engage in outdoor activities, and get to know more peers from outside of our individual fields!

Attendees:

If you have any questions, feel free to email me at BiologyAtTheBeach@whitney.ufl.edu

We hope to see you there!

UF College of Veterinary Medicine Recruiting Dogs

The UF College of Veterinary Medicine's dermatology research group are recruiting dogs for a number of clinical studies. In particular we are recruiting:

- Dogs with allergic skin disease (canine atopic dermatitis) which do not have concurrent skin infections (all breeds, but particularly Golden Retrievers and Australian Shepherd dogs).
- Healthy Golden Retrievers and Australian Shepherd dogs.

Please see the College's Veterinary Research page for more details of the studies currently recruiting: <http://research.vetmed.ufl.edu/clinical-trials/small-animal/>
